Join us for a special insider's look, not soon forgotten!

By being one of only a few guests accessing some of these exclusive estates, I can assure you, this trip will create one of the greatest memories you will ever experience!

The package we have put together includes airport transfers to and from one of two 18th Century Duke's estates where you will be staying. All of your meals, stalking Scottish roebucks, golfing, and touring castles and historic sites are all part of this special eight day experience for two that will take place during the month of June in 2024.

Your hunting package includes up to four outings for 2 roebucks (two morning and two evening hunts) with nearly every outing showing our hunters at least one mature buck.

My wife, Danielle, will personally take guests who aren't hunting, to visit other famous and prestigious castles, as well as other historic sites. Tee times on famous golf courses will be part of this incredible adventure as well.

Roebuck Ballindalloch Castle

Edinburgh Castle

is a historic fortress, which dominates the skyline of the city of Edinburgh, Scotland from its position on the Castle Rock.

Archaeologists have established human occupation of the rock since at least the Iron Age. There has been a royal castle on the rock since at least the reign of David I in the 12th century. The site continued to be a royal residence until the Union of the Crowns in 1603.

Jim Jackson, North Platte Class of '68 and his wife, Sally, joined us in Scotland. Here are some photos of the fun they had!

St Andrews Golf Course

The 18th Hole at the "Old Course" is located right off of the West Sands Beach where you will be able to take photos, including one on the famous Swilken Burn Bridge where at the 2005 British Open Championship, Jack Nicklaus gave his final farewell to professional golf while standing on the bridge.

One of two red stags taken by Jim on our personal estate on the Lyon River above Aberfeldy, where we have a private heard of nearly 1,000 red deer.

Stirling Castle overlooks Stirling Bridge, where William Wallace defeated the English in 1297, and where Robert the Bruce defeated them again in 1314 at Bannock Burn.

Scone Palace was the original home of the Stone of Destiny, the coronation chair of 42 Scottish kings.

William Wallace Monument is a tower standing 220 feet high on the summit of Abbey Craig commemorating the 13th Century Scottish hero, best known as Bavehart.

Crathes Castle stands against a background of rolling hills and is set in its own glorious gardens. This magical turreted castle is a favorite for fans of Scottish history.

Blair Castle has acted as a gatekeeper to the Scottish Highlands for 700 years. It is home to the Atholl Highlanders, Britain's only private army.

Ballindalloch Castle has been the highland home of the MacPhearson-Grant Family since 1546. It is one of the very few privately owned castles to have been lived in continuously by its original family. At one point in time, the family owned continuous land from the East Coast to the West Coast of Scotland. Ballindalloch is one of over 50 estates in Scotland where we have shooting rights.

Roebuck Invercauld Estate

Canongate Kirk is the Royal Family's official church in Scotland, and home to the legend of King David and the White Stag. In 1128, King David went hunting on Holy Rood Sunday. He came across a large white stag, which he chased, and was thrown from his horse when the stag charged him. David cried out to God to save him, and the stag vanished. Subsequently, King David built Canongate Church on the spot where his life was spared.

From then on, the white stag became a symbol of purity, redemption, and good fortune in Scotland.

This rare genetic mutation, called leucism, occurs only once in ten thousand red deer. We have collected our own personal herd of nearly 100 white red deer and 50 white fallow deer in Scotland.

Reverend Neil Gardner of Cannongate, the Queen's Personal Chaplain with Michael and Danielle, your personal hosts with their guests.

Crathie Kirk is a Church of Scotland parish best known for being the regular place of worship of the British Royal Family when they are on holiday at nearby Balmoral Castle.

Balmoral Castle has been the Scottish home of the Royal Family since it was built for Queen Victoria by Prince Albert in 1852. The estate itself encompasses about 80,000 acres, and is the Royal Family's residence in Scotland during the summer.

John Brown's Statue

Queen Victoria's faithful servant and game keeper was so loved by the Monarch, she had a bronze statue made of him when he died. Originally, it was erected in front of Balmoral Castle, but upon her death in 1901, it was relocated to a remote corner of the estate. Knowing where this site is located, we will take you there for a special, personal picture.

Royal Lochnagar distillery, located on Balmoral grounds, produces a single malt scotch whisky not exported to the US. This tour & purchasing opportunity is always a guest favorite.
